SPRING 2026

FROM THE RECTOR

Dear Friends in Christ,

As another year draws to a close, I am grateful for the many blessings experienced within our Seminary community: growth in faith, dedication to priestly formation, fruitful study, and the quiet work of God's grace among seminarians, faculty, staff, benefactors, and newly ordained priests.

At the heart of Seminary life, our mission remains simple yet profound: to form men after the heart of Christ, the Good Shepherd. This formation comes through prayer, fraternity, pastoral charity, study, and daily openness to God's guidance. We rejoice especially with those ordained this year, whose priesthood is a hopeful sign for the Church and the fruit of faithful discernment and formation.

We are also deeply aware that the Seminary's mission is sustained by the wider Church community—families, alumni, benefactors, bishops, priests, religious, and lay faithful—whose prayers and support nurture vocations and strengthen our work. In a very real way, every vocation is nurtured by the faith of the whole People of God.

As Rector, I remain encouraged by the many signs of hope I witness each day: mature men discerning courageously, faculty members dedicated to the pursuit of truth, formators accompanying seminarians with pastoral wisdom, newly ordained priests beginning their ministry with zeal, and friends of the Seminary who continue to believe in the future of the Church. These signs remind us that the Lord remains faithful and that He continues to call laborers into His vineyard.

As we look ahead, I ask for your continued prayers for our seminarians and newly ordained priests, that the Lord may strengthen them in holiness and guide them in generous service to His Church. May God bless and reward you and your families for all that you do to further our mission and to support this wonderful and holy house of priestly formation.

With my prayerful best wishes and asking for a remembrance in your prayers, I remain,

Fraternally yours in Christ,

Ministry of Acolyte Receives Nine New Men

During the spring semester, the Pope St. John XXIII National Seminary community warmly welcomed Archbishop Richard G. Henning of Boston to preside at the Ministry of Acolyte. Nine men were officially instituted and received into this special ministry in the Church.

An Acolyte's primary role will be assisting the deacon and priest during Mass, with a focus on ensuring the altar is prepared. They may also serve as extraordinary ministers of Holy Communion at Mass and bring Holy Eucharist to the sick. They will also participate in various tasks as needed, while also aiding the priest and deacon during liturgical celebrations. Join us as we congratulate and pray for the following men reaching this milestone:

Patrick L. Bridges, Diocese of Orlando; Br. Simeon J. Chung, OSB, Prince of Peace Abbey; Jarrad M. Condreay, Archdiocese of Kansas City in Kansas; David J. Ferrucci, Diocese of Fall River; Nicolas L. Shump, Diocese of Kansas City - St. Joseph; Michael A. Vento, Diocese of Gallup; Nicholas S. Wasko, Diocese of Scranton; Daniel M. Werner, Archdiocese of Hartford; and Matthew T. Yogus, Diocese of Savannah.

The Installation of Acolyte Mass is available for viewing on the Pope St. John XXIII National Seminary YouTube channel.

It is to the glory of my Father that you should bear much fruit and be my disciples.

I am excited for the great privilege to celebrate the sacraments. In particular, I am looking forward to sharing God's gift of mercy in the sacrament of reconciliation. This sacrament always helps the faithful enter into the Mass in a deeper and more affective way. I am confident that by maintaining a spirit of prayer and connection to the Lord's mercy myself, I will witness healing and spiritual growth in the hearts and minds of those who seek him. I know the formation at PSJS will help me be a good priest because it is all ordered towards communion with the Lord who is love and mercy itself! Our classes and practical lessons have been very helpful and comprehensive in many aspects of human dispositions that will demand various pastoral responses with the foundations of clear Church teaching. I look forward to sharing the good news of Jesus in the gift of the sacred priesthood beginning June 13th for the Diocese of Worcester in Massachusetts. Deo Gratias!

One of the most meaningful experiences I had here at PSJS was the opportunity to visit the homeless in Lawrence, MA. I did not expect how profoundly this encounter would affect me. In a very real and humbling way, I came to recognize the face of Christ in those who suffer—especially among individuals struggling with addiction and homelessness. This experience brought to life the words of Jesus: “Whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me” (Matthew 25:40). In those moments, this passage was no longer just something I had read—it became something I encountered.

This heartwarming experience has deeply inspired me and will remain with me as I move into my new parish assignment. It has strengthened my desire to seek out the marginalized and never forget that so many of our brothers and sisters are in need of Christ's love. We are called not only to serve them, but to encounter them with genuine compassion, recognizing that each person bears the image of God—sometimes hidden or disguised, but always truly present. As a team, we prepared food and then went out to distribute it, along with Miraculous Medals and prayer cards, to the homeless. What struck me most was the transformation in their faces—the way they lit up with hope, gratitude, and a sense of being seen and loved. It was a powerful reminder that even small acts of charity, when done with love, can become moments of grace.

The most memorable and impactful assignment during my tenure at PSJS was to serve as an “understudy” to Msgr. Frank Kelley. Msgr. Kelley was a former Chaplain for the retired priests of the Archdiocese of Boston who resided at the Regina Cleri Residence. During my assignment, Msgr. Kelley was insightful enough to arrange for me to meet and interview a different retired priest every week. My questions were varied and often far-ranging. Pastoral challenges, spiritual development and “words of advice” were all fair game. After each interview, I was asked to reflect upon my interaction and discuss what I had learned from these venerable priests. Over the months, I met so many good, holy and joyful men who all shared their deep devotion to the Church and the parishioners that they served. These holy veterans also shared with me the value of hope, the fruits of perseverance and their zeal for ministering to God’s people. To a man, the clergy at Regina Cleri were exceptional. Upon reflection, I can say with great fondness that Msgr. Kelley was a mentor, friend and role model for whom I will always have the greatest admiration. May he rest in God’s eternal peace.

While serving at the Altar as a Permanent Deacon, I felt a burning in my heart that I could no longer ignore from God to be the one He uses to Consecrate the Eucharist. This burning in my heart is still there. As a Priest, I am most looking forward to offering the Most Holy Sacrifice of the Mass - to cooperate with God, to be the one He works through in persona Christi Capitis, to make present His most holy precious Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity as truly present on the Altar in the Sacrament of the Eucharist. Through the Eucharist, God will bring His presence, love and mercy to a hurting world. Through this, those entrusted to my care as their spiritual father, may receive the Author of life. They, in turn, may become who they receive and bring glory to God by loving and serving those around them in the name of Jesus; and we may begin to live the life God is calling us all to live with Him for eternity.

It is not easy to state my best overall experience in formation (since I had many amazing experiences), but the brotherhood that I have found in my fellow seminarians has been incredible! We have studied together, experienced the milestones of priestly formation together, and participated in off-campus activities together. Most importantly, we have shared our love for Jesus Christ and His Church, and nothing creates a stronger bond between people than that! We have prayed! Some of my most trusted confidants are certain brother seminarians who are my closest friends.

The challenges that come with fraternity have helped my growth in patience and humility by the grace of God. We can't help but inadvertently get on each other's nerves sometimes, like any other family. I am so grateful to enter the brotherhood of the ministerial priesthood of Jesus Christ, and of the Presbyterate of the Diocese of Orlando! I also believe that I have been well prepared to be the best version of myself for my future brother priests who will share a rectory with me. Thanks be to God, to the people of God, and to the Vocations team of the Diocese of Orlando, that I got to study at this Seminary!

The most important aspect of a priest's ministry is the salvation of souls. The two ways in which the priest does this is by administering the Sacraments of the Eucharist and Penance. It is important that these sacraments are celebrated often and with great reverence. In order to receive Christ in the Eucharist, a person must be in the state of grace. The Sacrament of Penance is what gives that grace. We all are sinners, so we all need this Sacrament to receive forgiveness, healing and restore our relationship with God. As a priest, I desire to assist the people of God in entering into a more profound and intimate relationship with Christ.

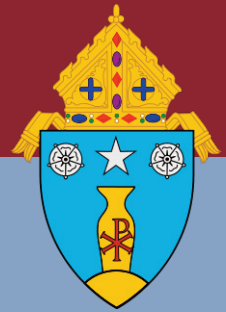

My journey in the seminary has prepared me intellectually, spiritually, and pastorally in order to be an effective priest and father to those souls that are placed in my path. I am prepared to live my life not for myself but for Christ and His Church. I will always preach the truth as given to us by Christ with a heart that is compassionate, loving and empathetic. So much of society today negates God. As a man ordained to the sacred priesthood it is the ministry of the priest which brings the Lord to those who have strayed or who have never known the Lord. It is my prayer life and my relationship with Christ that will sustain me as I move forward as a spiritual father for the children of God within the Roman Catholic Church.

REV. PAUL LANDI

Diocese of Beaumont

During my third year of seminary, I was assigned to the MCI- Concord Correctional facility to minister to those who are incarcerated. Before this, I never gave much thought about those who were “in the pen,” or about forgiveness, the corporal works of mercy, or even Jesus’ words, “whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me,” (Mt. 25:40).

It’s amazing how God changes a person. When I first began the prison ministry, I was scared but that soon changed. I began to understand why Jesus preaches to us about not judging, because we truly do not know the “big picture,” the circumstances that led them to being in prison. Prison ministry has shown me what it means to be made in the image and likeness of God, and how we all share the same dignity, the same worth, regardless of our situation. Not only has it taught me the importance of forgiveness, but it has also helped me to understand why we should not judge others, and it has taught me that Christ can be found everywhere, especially in prisons. When I began this ministry, I thought I was going to bring Christ to the inmates. As it turned out, they were the ones who brought Christ to me. God-willing, once ordained, I look forward to joining the prison ministry with my diocese.

One of my most meaningful experiences at PSJS has been the outreach once a month in the city of Lawrence with my brother seminarians and seminary staff, serving the homeless community. These encounters have profoundly shaped my formation for priesthood.

A particularly moving moment was Ash Wednesday 2026, which coincided with our outreach. At the prayer table, many approached with deep trust, openly sharing their struggles and asking for ashes and prayer. As I imposed ashes on each person, I listened attentively and wrote down their personal prayer requests. After each encounter, I paused to offer a spontaneous, heartfelt prayer, entrusting their intentions to God’s mercy. In that silence and simplicity, I came to understand that priestly ministry is not first about polished words or solutions, but about reverent presence—listening, receiving people’s stories, and bringing them before the Lord with compassion. This experience has deepened my sense of priesthood as a humbling, grace-filled privilege. It has also strengthened my appreciation for the fraternal life of my brother seminarians; walking, praying, and serving together forms us into more faithful and compassionate shepherds. As I continue toward ordination, I carry this moment as a lasting reminder that every soul encountered is sacred ground and every act of ministry is an invitation to love more deeply.

REV. ROBERT ROONEY

Ordination Date: May 23, 2026

This year, I was given the opportunity to return to the Catholic Parishes of Arlington (St. Agnes / St. Camillus) for a second year. My time there has been a significant formative experience, and returning this year as a deacon allowed me to engage the community more deeply.

My regular participation in the Sacred Liturgy each weekend and preaching monthly have helped me to engage the Scriptures more intentionally and focus on how to meaningfully communicate the Gospel message. Feedback from the priests, along with observing their distinct homiletic styles, has contributed significantly to my growth. Experiences in other sacramental contexts -- baptisms, funerals, and weddings—have highlighted the deeply relational nature of priestly ministry. These moments have taught me the importance of presence, compassion, and attentiveness to people at significant points in their lives. Also, working with Confirmation candidates has further developed the human dimension of my formation. I've been given the gift to work with these junior high and high school students for two years. The extended nature of those relationships has allowed for more meaningful class discussion, and the students have helped me understand how to foster an environment where young people feel comfortable engaging and sharing about their faith. Finally, living in the rectory and learning from experienced priests has encouraged me to reflect more intentionally on the "why" behind pastoral and liturgical practices. Together, these experiences have been essential in shaping my understanding of priesthood and my readiness to serve.

In Preparation for Holy Orders

One evening in March, the community gathered in Alumni Chapel for solemn Evening Prayer. It was during this rite that members of the fourth theology class made their Profession of Faith and Oath of Fidelity in preparation for their ordinations to the priesthood. This is an important and the final stage in the formation of seminarians as they prepare for Holy Orders.

The faithful who are called to exercise an office in the name of the church are required to make the profession of faith according to the formula approved by the Apostolic See (cf. Canon 833). By stating this profession, they are promising a full acceptance of church teachings as well as adhering to the teachings of the pope.

From Assisi to the Heart of the Church: A Pilgrimage of Grace and Formation

Kate Folan, Director of Institutional Advancement

Nineteen pilgrims from the Seminary community, led by Msgr. Bill Fay, embarked on a spring pilgrimage through Italy that became far more than a journey to sacred places. Beginning in Assisi, the journey offered a profound experience of prayer, fraternity, and spiritual renewal rooted in the living tradition of the Church.

The pilgrimage opened at Santa Maria degli Angeli, home to the Porziuncola chapel restored by St. Francis of Assisi. There the group celebrated Mass and reflected on Franciscan ideals of humility, poverty, and joyful surrender. In Assisi, the seminarians visited the Basilica of St. Clare and prayed before the tomb of St. Carlo Acutis. His modern witness of faith and devotion to the Eucharist reminded the pilgrims that holiness remains possible in every age. In a rare and grace-filled moment at the Basilica of St. Francis, they venerated the Saint's relics and were able to pray before his remains, which were exposed for public devotion for the first time since his death. Mass at San Damiano, where Francis first heard Christ speak to him from the crucifix, deepened the seminarians' own sense of vocation and service.

Traveling onward to Orvieto, the group visited the cathedral associated with the Eucharistic Miracle of Bolsena, strengthening their devotion to the Real Presence. The pilgrimage then continued to Rome, where the seminarians encountered the heart of the universal Church. They visited major basilicas, including St. John Lateran and St. Mary Major, ascended the Scala Sancta in prayer, and reflected at the tomb of Pope Francis.

A highlight of the pilgrimage came during the Wednesday General Audience in St. Peter's Square, where the seminarians joined pilgrims from around the world and personally encountered Pope Leo XIV. The experience powerfully demonstrated the universality and unity of the Church.

Throughout Rome, the pilgrims celebrated Mass at sacred sites, including St. Peter's Basilica at the tomb of Pope St. John XXIII and the Basilica of St. Paul Outside the Walls. Visits to the Sistine Chapel, the Colosseum, the Roman Forum, and Castel Gandolfo enriched their understanding of the Church's history, beauty, and continuity across centuries.

The pilgrimage concluded at the Catacombs of St. Callixtus and Santa Croce in Gerusalemme, where reflections on the witness of martyrs and Christ's Passion brought the journey full circle. Returning to Boston, the seminarians carried home renewed faith, deeper fraternity, and strengthened commitment to their vocation and future service to the Church.

Why We March

Rev. Daniel Bassile '26, Diocese of Orlando

In 2024, I went to my first March for Life, and a snowstorm covered Washington D.C. I looked around the National Mall and it was covered with snow and looked beautiful. I was reminded of the words from the prophet Isaiah, "Though your sins are like scarlet, they may become white as snow," and it reminded me that we have all sinned. However, we must trust in God's mercy, and He will come to meet us as His prodigal children. We may turn from our sins and live God's love for all people - all hearts may turn to God. And there will be no need for marches because we will know in our hearts that all life is sacred and made in the image of God.

This year I asked myself, "If we have overturned the Roe decision with Dobbs, making this a state issue, why are we marching in D.C.?" The answer lies in the words of Father Richard John Neuhaus, "We have signed on for the duration, and the duration is the entirety of the human drama, for the conflict between what Pope Saint John Paul II calls the culture of life and the culture of death is a permanent conflict. It is a conflict built into a wretchedly fallen and terribly ambiguous human condition." And so, we must march. As Bishop James D. Conley reminded us in his homily at the National Prayer Vigil for Life Mass, "Our goal is not only to make abortion illegal; our goal is to make abortion unthinkable." It became clear to me, we must continue to march in D.C. until abortion is unthinkable. As we march, we are filled with energy to keep fighting for the right to life. The annual March for Life keeps this front and center, and it gives unequalled energy to people fighting for life.

This energy fuels the most important task of unceasingly praying for the sanctity of all life. Which is what we do weekly at Pope Saint John XXIII National Seminary.

Each Thursday a group of Seminarians gathers to pray The Culture of Life Chaplet. It reminds us of the most vulnerable as we pray for God's help to end this culture of death. We must work as if everything depends on us and pray as everything depends on God, just as Saint Augustine reminds us. This is the way we will bring an end to the "Culture of Death," and bring the way to have a "Culture of Life."

Vocations

Msg. Bill Fay and Stephen Baruffi '26 managed the booth at Boston Men's Conference

Members of the administration, seminarians and staff work in several ways to promote Pope St. John XXIII and encourage vocations in the older discerner. This spring, those efforts included representation at both the Worcester Men's Conference in Worcester, MA, as well as the Boston Men's Conference that took place just on the outskirts of Boston, in Quincy, MA. Msg. Bill Fay and seminarians answered questions from conference attendees and engaged in conversations with men wanting to know more about becoming a priest.

Seminarians Bill Bilow '29, Roberto Acevedo Ruiz '29 and Chris Aubrey '26 managed the Worcester Men's Conference booth

Additionally, our Rector, Fr. Brian Kiely, was a guest on the EWTN sponsored radio/podcast show, Take 2 with Jerry & Debbie. The April 14th episode, titled "Live from Pope St. John XXIII National Seminary", is co-hosted by Jerry Usher '28, a seminarian studying for the Diocese of Orlando! He and co-host Debbie Georgianni, along with Fr. Kiely and a few seminarians, were live from the Rector's Conference Room, answering callers' questions and speaking about the unique mission of PSJS. The show airs weekdays at noon on the EWTN Global Catholic Radio Network to a large audience! You can learn more about the show at: www.take2show.com.

AROUND THE SEMINARY

Sometimes we slide...sometimes we roll!

On a cold winter day, a few seminarians and staff took to the ice – for curling! A great afternoon was had at Broomstones Curling Club in Wayland—good laughs, friendly competition, and maybe a few unexpected champions. Thanks to the club for the warm welcome!

April brought the bocce tournament back to PSJS!

Seminarians and staff enjoyed a two-week stretch of bocce play on the PSJS bocce court. Teams competed for bragging rights, best costume, best team name, and hoisting the trophy! Congratulations to Executive Chef John Bradley and Kitchen & Facilities Assistant Alex Quintero on a hard-fought win. We also celebrate Second-Place Winners Fr. John Tanyi '25 and Sinclair Cushmore '26. Bruised elbows and egos will heal over summer break and return for a new round of play in 2027!

Stepping Forward

This spring, some members of the PSJS community took required steps forward in their journey to priesthood. Join us in praying for these men – and for all the men in formation!

Clifton Mastran '25 of the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston in West Virginia was ordained a Deacon in December 2025. He will be ordained to the priesthood on May 30, 2026 with the Most Rev. Mark E. Brennan presiding at the Cathedral of St. Joseph in Wheeling, West Virginia.

Bao Nguyen of the Diocese of Venice in Florida, Maximilian Muenke of the Archdiocese of Boston and Leonardo Espinosa-Lopez of the Diocese of Raleigh in North Carolina were all ordained to the Transitional Diaconate in April and May in separate ceremonies in their respective dioceses. They will return to the Seminary for their final year of formation before they are ordained to the priesthood in 2027.

Of Note...

Prayers and Gratitude

The Seminary Community continues to pray for the repose of the soul of Most Rev. William Murphy of Rockville Center, a native of Boston and one-time Auxiliary Bishop of Boston, who passed into eternal rest on March 26, 2026. Bishop Murphy was a former faculty member of the Seminary and remained a steadfast supporter of the mission of PSJS.

Congratulations to Most Rev. Robert Reed on his new appointment as Rector of St. John's Seminary in Brighton, MA.

Scott A. Gieselman has concluded his term as Board Member at PSJS. Scott served on the Board for over a decade. He and his wife, Mia, were three-time Lawn Party co-chairs, from 2012-2014. We are deeply grateful for Scott's time of service, and for his example of grace and faith as a Board member. Thank you, Scott!

Rev. Scott Surrency, OFM Cap., who has faithfully served as our Dean of Seminarians and as a member of the Faculty, will be transitioning to a ministry with the Capuchin Province of St. Mary's this summer. During his five years here at the Seminary, Fr. Surrency contributed greatly to the formation of our seminarians and to the life of our community. We are deeply grateful for his service, and we assure him of our prayers as he embraces a new chapter of his priestly service.
